THE SWEETEST WORD

- "I think the sweetest word is "floure
- Sald little Antile Price. Recause it always makes me think
- Di things so good and nice.
- I never feel so happy
 As whan dear fither comes; And Ma and Willie are so kind. So the sweetest word is 'Home,'
- "The sweetest word, I think, i- Morlan, Soid little Jenny Lowe. Though I hardly can remember mine.
- She died so long ago ; but I often wish I had her here, When I feel so thed and sad: If I only had a mother, I doubt be very glad.
- "I Think the sweetest word is "Rearce,"" Sold little Emma Gray. Because I know that there we have
- Our tears all wiped away, And little Johnny's gone, I know. To walk the golden street, Boranse he told us, when he went, That there we all should meet.
- "The sweetest word of all is "Jesus. Said good Amylia Ray. "Because I know He died for us. To take our sins away, Twas he who gave us all a home
- A mother, and a heaven; But, better than all gifts of cartle His own dear life was given.
- "The Bible tells, " sweet Hatrie spoke.
 " Whoswer will may come." Do you not think that sweeter Than Mother, Heaven, or House? It tells so much of Jeans' love.
- To sinuers such as 1 El-c I como never se lo neaven When I shall come to die. "
- " It tells me that He easts out none, Who come to Hin in love !!-It tells me heaven may be my home.

INCIDENTS OF THE LANCASHIRE DIS TRESS.

We lay before our readers a few instances of the misery that is endured in England, just as occurred to the hystander. Here is one from

¹¹Down a miserable court, where a quadran gle of little dens they could not be called houses -were hubbled together, their open doors exhibiting all that the houses contained, for they were iting all that the houses contained, to any single-stored, we entered a low-roufed lovel. —

A woman sation a bench, for rather a rough total of the property frame-work which represented a bed; an infinit was in her arms, and at her feet two little halfwas in her arms, and at her feet two little half-clothed children were lying. The room contained nothing but a counterpane upon the hed, a pot beside the lice, and a few articles of crockery—not n chair or table was there, nor one single article to contribute to comfort. The poor crea-ture evinced great regret that we could not be ture evinced great regret that we could not be recommodated with seats: but we told bet that our object was merely to look through the dissipancia, Negreys-buildings are node nearly new.
